Gas Services Information Allowable Revenue and Forecast Capital Expenditure for the Independent Market Operator

FINAL DECISION

The Economic Regulation Authority has determined the Gas Services Information Allowable Revenue and Forecast Capital Expenditure for the Independent Market Operator, for the Initial Review Period i.e., 1 July 2013 to 30 June 2016.

The Gas Services Information Rules (GSI Rules) require the Authority to assess and determine the Allowable Revenue and Forecast Capital Expenditure of the IMO for the initial Review Period within four calendar months of receipt of the IMO's proposal, i.e. by 1 November 2013.

In determining the Allowable Revenue and Forecast Capital Expenditure for the IMO, under the GSI Rules, the Authority was required to undertake a public consultation process, which included publishing an Issues Paper and issuing an invitation for public submissions. No public submissions were received in response to this request.

The Authority's final determination and the reasons for this determination are available on the Authority's website.
