Western Power metrology procedure

Review of amendments

The Economic Regulation Authority is seeking public submissions from code participants and interested parties on Western Power's amended metrology procedure, submitted to the ERA for review on 29 November 2021.

The metrology procedure sets out the procedures for the provision, installation, maintenance and reading of meters on the Western Power network. It is required under the Electricity Industry (Metering) Code 2012.

Western Power originally submitted an amended metrology procedure on 1 October 2021. During the ERA's initial review, it became apparent that further changes were required to the procedure. As a result, Western Power consulted with interested parties and has now submitted an updated document for review.

The Metering Code was amended on 19 August 2021 to facilitate the implementation of five-minute weekly settlement for the new Wholesale Electricity Market design. This change required Western Power to update the metrology procedure and submit it to the ERA for approval.

Invitation for submissions

The ERA invites interested parties to make submissions on Western Power's amendments to its Metrology Procedure.

Submissions close 4:00 pm (WST) Tuesday, 14 December 2021.

Submissions should be lodged online using the form on our website www.erawa.com.au/consultation.
