Amendments to the Western Australian gas retail market scheme

Decision

The Economic Regulation Authority has approved changes to the Western Australian gas retail market scheme, which ensures that the market operates efficiently and fairly for market participants and their customers.

On 22 March 2023, the ERA received an application from the Australian Energy Market Operator (AEMO) to amend the gas retail market scheme as set out in procedure change proposals IN001/23W, IN003/22W and IN004/21W. The proposals included several technical or minor editorial changes to some scheme documents relating to the operation of the market, including those related to information technology communication processes.

To make its decision, the ERA considered whether the proposed amendments complied with the requirements set out in the Energy Coordination Act 1994 (WA) and the Retail Market Procedures (WA). The reasons for the ERA's decision are available on the ERA website.

These amendments will take effect on Friday 30 June 2023 as specified by the ERA in the Western Australian Government Gazette.
