Regulatory Information Notices

Publication of ATCO regulatory information notices covering the period 2019-2022

The ERA has published information received under a regulatory information notice \(RIN\) served on ATCO Gas Australia, the service provider for the mid-west and south-west gas distribution systems.

Under section 48 of the National Gas Law, the ERA can serve a RIN on a scheme pipeline service provider to provide information specified in that notice. Under the RIN, ATCO is required to provide information for the period from 1 January 2019 to 31 December 2024.

The information provided includes:

- demand by pipeline service
- operating expenditure by category
- capital expenditure by asset class and project driver
- revenue and expenses by category
- key performance indicator outcomes
- pipeline length by pressure and asset type.

ATCO is required to provide this information on an annual basis to enable the ERA to monitor ATCO's progress against its access arrangement and to inform future access arrangement reviews.

ATCO was required to provide an explanation of significant variances between its actual performance and forecasts in its access arrangement. The ERA has published ATCO's Excel spreadsheets, basis of preparation documents and variance analysis documents on its website.

ATCO's RIN submission for the 2023 period is due to be submitted to the ERA by the end of May 2024.
