Access Arrangement Information Guidelines

ELECTRICITY NETWORKS ACCESS CODE 2004

The Economic Regulation Authority has today released revised access arrangement information guidelines, which were prepared under the Electricity Networks Access Code 2004 (Access Code).

Under the Access Code the Authority may publish guidelines on what must be included in access arrangement information so that the information complies with the code.

Access arrangement information must enable the Authority, users and applicants to understand how the service provider developed elements of its proposed access arrangement, or revisions to its approved access arrangement, and form an opinion on whether it complies with the Access Code.
