NEW FACILITIES INVESTMENT TEST

“New facilities investment” is the capital cost of developing, constructing and acquiring a new facility to enable the utility to provide covered services.

The new facilities investment test determines whether, or to what extent, investment associated with a new facility can be added (rolled in) to the capital base of a covered (regulated) network and recovered through network tariffs.

Under the Access Code, a service provider may at any time apply to the Authority to conduct a new facilities investment test in relation to actual or forecast new facilities investment. On receiving an application, the Authority must make and publish a determination within a reasonable time after having consulted with the public.
