REVISED ACCESS ARRANGEMENT INFORMATION

The Economic Regulation Authority has released the revised access arrangement information for the Mid-West and South-West gas distribution systems access arrangement (GDS).

WA Gas Networks Pty Ltd (WAGN) as owner of the GDS initially submitted proposed revisions to the access arrangement, access arrangement information and supporting information on 29 January 2010. The Authority issued its draft decision not to approve the proposed revised access arrangement on 17 August 2010. The draft decision contained 74 required amendments. In response to the draft decision WAGN submitted a proposed revised access arrangement on 18 October 2010.

On 28 April 2011, the Authority issued its final decision not to approve WAGN's amended revised access arrangement as the proposed revisions did not comply with the required amendments contained in the draft decision.

Consequently, the Authority drafted and approved its own revised access arrangement consistent with the requirements of rule 64 of the National Gas Rules. The revised access arrangement was published on 28 April 2011. The Authority also required WAGN to amend its access arrangement information to be consistent with the approved access arrangement and to submit the amended access arrangement information to the Authority by 12 May 2011 for publication on its website.

A copy of the amended access arrangement information is available on the Authority's website.
