Amendment of gas licences

Insertion of amended Compendium of Gas Customer Licence Obligations

The Economic Regulation Authority has approved an amendment to all gas trading and distribution licences.

The amendment consists of replacing the Compendium of Gas Customer Licence Obligations, which is included in Schedule 2 of all gas licences, with the amended version of the compendium published on 4 November 2019. The amendments to the compendium strengthen protections for small use gas customers and ensure that both gas and electricity customers receive the same level of protection.

The amended gas trading and distribution licences will take effect on 1 January 2020.
