Draft Alternative Electricity Services Compliance and Enforcement Guide

Public consultation

The Economic Regulation Authority is seeking public comment on our draft Alternative Electricity Services (AES) Compliance and Enforcement Guide. The draft guide outlines the ERA's proposed approach to promoting, monitoring and enforcing compliance with the AES framework.

Interested parties are encouraged to provide comments on the draft guide, which is intended to inform AES registration holders of our monitoring and enforcement activities. Stakeholder feedback is important to ensure the guide is clear, practical and fit for purpose.

AES regulation will commence in 2027, starting with onsite power supply providers in February, and expanding to single property networks in July. In 2027, we will be focussed on raising awareness of the requirement to register, encouraging providers to register, providing information and educational materials, and responding to queries from AES providers and customers.

Following consultation, the ERA will consider stakeholder submissions before finalising and publishing the guide.

Invitation for submissions

The ERA invites interested parties to make submissions on the draft AES Compliance and Enforcement Guide.

Submissions close 4:00pm (WST) Thursday, 19 November 2026.

Submissions can be lodged online using the form on our Current Consultation webpage.
